

FCC,

I am writing in regards of radio stations broadcast by K-LOVE such as my local station of KZLV 91.3 FM. K-LOVE is an important integral asset to my community. It's the music and commentaries that K-LOVE plays on a 24-hour basis that encourages and informs the city of San Antonio, TX. K-LOVE strives to play the most current and requested Christian music, which assists people like myself in coping with everyday stresses from work and life circumstances. K-LOVE also utilizes part of their airtime to provide free public service announcements for each local community. This service informs people of the happenings in our local areas that we would otherwise not know about. These announcements build community support and strengthen the area through new friendships and support that would not happen without K-LOVE. Most importantly, K-LOVE often airs listener comments with such testimonials of people terminating suicide attempts because of a song or comment, which they heard on K-LOVE. Other such comments include saved marriages and other personal relationships. It is proven that the service K-LOVE provides is life saving and life changing therefore strengthening communities and individuals. It would be a grave, literally a "grave" mistake to allow Low Power FM (LPFM) services that would force FM stations like K-LOVE off the air! I highly discourage implementing LPFM broadcast services.

Very Respectfully,
Jason R. Goodreau
